

Principles of instructional planning

These principles hold true for ALL students!

Are we keeping them front of mind in the day-to-day planning for students with significant disabilities?

personally meaningful opportunities for social interaction age respectful

promotes autonomy

socially relevant

developmentally appropriate